

ABSTRACT

A retractable screen for sealing an opening of a door or window casing having decorative parts on opposite sides of the opening, the screen being provided at one end with a pulling bar and having an opposite end attached to a roller rod disposed in a housing mounted to the side wall of a decorative part on one side of the opening provided with a pulling beam and, further, a receiving section for receiving the pulling beam and having a securing edge mounted to the side of the opposing decorative part.